PREFACE.

THE following catalogue of FOREIGN COINS AND MEDALS collected by the late WM. BOYNE, ESQ., F.S.A., &c., is a very complete proof of the energy possessed by that eminent collector in all branches of numismatics. The enviable ardour with which he pursued the study of nearly every known series, may be gathered from a glance at the Table of Contents: the thoroughness of his pursuit can be judged by an inspection of the Catalogue.

It is to be regretted that Englishmen rarely—indeed almost never—take seriously to the collecting of foreign coins. This does not arise, as is sometimes said, from a prejudiced dislike to them, but from the fact that the amateur in contemplating the forming of such a collection, finds so immense an array of material ready for his attention, that he considers it to be impossible for him to find a centre for commencing a favourable attack, and so decides to abandon the project. This indecision undoubtedly results, in a great measure, from the very general neglect of the study of the history of continental Europe during the Early and Middle Ages. With the exception of those points, comparatively few, in which the history of foreign countries comes into direct connection with our own, nothing is desired or sought after.

And, again, the constant changes of government in almost every important European State, the numerous sub-divisions and branches of so many large countries, and the multitude of petty states and more or less autonomous cities enjoying the rights of coining, are all matters that combine to add to the dismay of the would-be collector at the first survey of the enormous field of foreign numismatics.

It is very possible that this collection of Mr. Boyne might never have passed beyond the ordinary initiatory stage had not a long residence abroad made him thoroughly acquainted with foreign history, and opened up channels which gave him an unusual facility for collecting.

A close examination of this Catalogue will reveal the presence of rarities in almost every series; to particularise them here is unnecessary. It may, however, be remarked that especial notice should be taken of the earlier coins in the French series, of the very fine German and Austrian thalers, of the Swiss coins, and of the unrivalled Italian collection. This last, indeed, calls for more than a passing notice. So complete a collection has never before been offered for sale in England, and even in Italy, so large and important a one is but very rarely seen.
